Bulo

Founded in 1963 by Walter Busschop, Bulo is a 3rd generation, family owned business, led by Carlo Busschop. Throughout its history, Bulo has built a reputation for creating timeless pieces that blend form and function, with a particular emphasis on comfort and durability.

Over the years, Bulo has collaborated with many renowned designers, including Alain Berteau, Vincent Van Duysen, and Jean Nouvel, to name a few. Bulo's commitment to quality and sustainability is reflected in their use of durable materials and eco-friendly production methods.

As we celebrate our 60th anniversary, Bulo continues to push boundaries and create timeless pieces that are sure to be treasured for many years to come. At Bulo, we welcome change as a challenge to broaden our own design horizons and as a force to inspire innovation.

BOSQ

Craftsmanship, knowledge of materials and a sense of innovation – these are just some of the characteristics of our sister company Bosq, which constantly strives to set new standards in veneer. With the knowledge and the passion for wood, Bosq is a leading supplier and manufacturer of bespoke furniture and custom millwork with a focus on the most sustainable wood processing techniques.

A SUSTAINABLE SOLUTION

Not only is veneer one of the most ecological ways to use wood, but Bosq strongly focuses on local wood and its recovery and valorization. Weathered wood from the iconic mooring posts in Venice, the trees from the garden of the Africa Museum in Tervuren, the wood from the lock gates in the Scheldt river, examples of wood that is given a second life in the form of an exclusive tabletop, cabinet, or bench.
